FEW DETAILS...

- To help libraries prepare for the official launch date (July 1), Gale installed the new resources on library accounts on JUNE 25.
- Libraries can visit <https://support.gale.com/novelny> to obtain their access URLs and other resource support.
- For individual member libraries that have an existing subscription to a database that will be provided through a statewide initiative, your Gale representative will be in touch with the credit amount to use.
- Regarding libraries that already subscribed to a Peterson's product; in most cases, your users will not have to create new users account within the new Peterson's resource.
- Our blog is a great way to stay informed on Gale resources including product updates, success stories, and more. Visit <https://blog.gale.com> and subscribe today!

GALE PRESENTS: PETERSON'S TEST AND CAREER PREP

EMT Diagnostic Test - Section 1: Airway, Respiration, and Ventilation

Question 1

Respiratory rate is assessed by counting

- a) full-chest rises for fifteen seconds
- b) breaths for thirty seconds and divide by two
- c) breaths for a full sixty seconds.
- d) full-chest rises for sixty seconds and divide by two

Hide question 1 feedback

The correct answer is B.

To assess respiratory rate, the EMT should count breaths for 30 seconds and divide by two. Counting breaths for less than thirty seconds will result in an inaccurate respiratory rate, whereas counting breaths for more than thirty seconds will result in a decrease in the accuracy of the count.

HOW IT WORKS

A technician affixes electrodes to the patient's chest using adhesive patches with a special gel that conducts electrical impulses. Typically, electrodes are placed under each collarbone and each bottom rib, and six electrodes are placed across the chest in a rough outline of the heart. Wires from the electrodes are connected to an ECG, which records the electrical activity picked up by the electrodes.

The technician performs resting ECG tests while the patient is lying down, then standing

Coffee Truck: Cobblestone Coffee Co.

Author: Paul Greenland
Editor: Donna Craft
Date: 2024

From: Business Plans Handbook (Vol. 60.)
Publisher: Gale, part of Cengage Group

Document Type: Topic overview; Business plan
Length: 2,384 words
Lexile Measure: 1320L

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Cobblestone Coffee Co. is a mobile coffee business, which sells coffee, tea, hot chocolate, espresso drinks, cold beverages, and other specialty beverages.

Cobblestone Coffee Co. is a mobile coffee business, which sells coffee, tea, hot chocolate, espresso drinks, cold beverages, and other specialty beverages. It operates in downtown Lexington, Kentucky, and at certain public and private events throughout the area. The mobile coffee industry includes businesses that sell beverages from hand- and bicycle-powered carts, pull-behind trailers, and motorized trucks. Cobblestone Coffee Co. operates from a retro (1969) Shasta trailer, which has been converted into a food and beverage truck.

An October 2023 IBISWorld report indicated that approximately 47,033 food truck businesses operated nationwide as the mid-2020s began, collectively employing 54,552 people. In a separate analysis, the firm estimated that another 72,854 coffee and snack shops operated nationwide, employing 867,000 people.

Cobblestone Coffee Co. is led by Sam Breiby, who has managed several eating and drinking establishments over the previous 15 years (including six years managing a local Starbucks location). This new enterprise will benefit from his firsthand knowledge. The following plan details Breiby's strategy for establishing and growing Cobblestone Coffee Co. during its initial five years of operations.

Mission Statement: Through dedication, passion, and an unwavering commitment to customer service, Cobblestone Coffee Co. aims to provide customers with unforgettable, locally crafted beverages close to where they live, work, and celebrate life.

INDUSTRY ANALYSIS

Overview

Cobblestone Coffee Co. is part of the broader restaurant industry, falling within the food truck niche. In its State of the Restaurant Industry 2023 report, the National Restaurant Association (NRA) revealed that food service industry sales were expected to reach $907 billion in 2023.
